科目ナンバリング
授業内容 Course Description	International integration is one of the best approaches to achieve regional and global peace, as well as common economic goals. In this course, we try to make comparative analysis of integration phenomena between world regions, including Asia, Europe and America. Responding to the interests of students, Africa, Pacific and MENA regions may be added. The theory and reality of European Union is emphasized as the typical integrational success. Newspapers and articles are introduced to explain the trends of worldwide regionalism.
到達目標（授業の狙い） Objectives	Students should be able to have knowledge with understanding on the matters of regional integrations, as well as have plans with imagination and creativity for the future global peace through integrational approach.
授業方法 Method of Instruction	Lecture based on various materials, and presentations and discussions by student participation. If needed, computer analysis is used to compare quantitatively the character of the regions.
準備学習 Class Preparation	Students are expected to attend all lectures, submit and present reports, and participate in discussions.
